Michelangelo International Wine & Spirits Awards

South Africa’s only true international wine and spirits competition

The results of six days of judging of 1 829 local and foreign wines, liqueurs, spirits and brandies by 28 wine and spirits experts from around the globe

2016

THE MICHELANGELO TEAM: Mariëtte de Beer (Office manager), Kelvin Kapoloza (Store assistant), Eddie Coetzee (Logistics manager), Nicholas Tigere (Store assistant), Lorraine Immelman (Owner and CEO), Christine Rudman (Technical director)
The 20th Michelangelo has lived up to – and exceeded – all our expectations in many ways: a new record number of 1829 entries was received this year from wine and spirits producers in South Africa, with an additional 11 international wine and spirits producing countries also submitting samples. A selection of wines and spirits were received from Australia, Italy, France, the Czech Republic, Lebanon, Chile, Moravia, China, Croatia, Slovakia and Slovenia. For the first time this year spirits producers entered their rum, gin and vodka products to be judged alongside liqueur and brandy entries, leading to some interesting discussions among our international judges and eventually to even more interesting results!

Continuing the tradition of being South Africa’s only true international wine and spirits competition since 1997, we brought 28 wine and spirits specialists from 20 countries to South Africa in August to take on the task of judging the entries over a period of six days.

At the glittering awards dinner on 26 September, 670 awards in total were presented to award winning wines and spirits. Of these 18 medals were platinum, 113 Grand’Or, 271 gold and 253 silver. Medals were awarded to 52 international wines and spirits.

IN THE BACK ROOM…
Over the past two decades many changes and adaptions have become necessary, as the competition rapidly outgrew various venues for storage, judging and the awards ceremony. Entries await judgement in tidy, ordered rows on purpose-built shelves: two deep, five rows high. This system also allows for the ordered and quick drawing of samples as well as good temperature control of the wines.

“A Michelangelo winner is without doubt an exceptional wine.”

Samples are opened and sorted for the day’s tasting in an adjoining section, from where the bottles are brought to the judging panels in closed bags which conceal their identity. Wines were judged blind, utilising the international 100-point system. Should panel members differ greatly in their scores and consensus cannot be reached, a different panel is asked to re-taste the wine.

ONLY A THIRD OF ENTRIES ARE WINNERS!
A Michelangelo winner is without doubt an exceptional wine: according to the Michelangelo’s international scoring system we award only an approximate one third of entries (36% in 2016 to allow for percentile cut-offs and fairness of medal allocation), with the lowest medal awarded (silver) requiring at least 86/100. A wine wearing a Michelangelo Platinum sticker has been awarded 96/100 and a Grand’Or (double gold) at least 94/100!

THANK YOU, THANK YOU!
Lastly, I would like to extend a personal thank you to the sponsors and ambassadors of the Michelangelo - I am immensely proud and grateful for the competition’s growth in both stature and recognition over the past 20 years and realise that very little of this phenomenal growth would have happened without our sponsors. The wine industry – producers and suppliers to the industry alike – has supported the Michelangelo with enthusiasm and loyalty which often still astounds me. We look forward to the next 20 years and taking you all with us for the next part of the journey!

Report of factual findings in connection with the judging and scoring procedures of the Michelangelo International Wine & Spirits Awards of South Africa

Principal details from the report of D Vermooten BAP (SA) with respect to the judging and scoring procedures of The Michelangelo International Wine Awards of South Africa during the week of August 15, 2016 to August 20, 2016. My engagement was undertaken in accordance with the International Standard on Related Services 4400 applicable to agreed-upon procedures engagements. The procedures are summarized as follows:

1. we arrived at the tasting venue before the wine judges to ensure that they were not present in the tasting room during the preparation stage;
2. we observed that at no point during the “blind” tasting were the wine judges informed about the identity of wines being tasted;
3. we checked that the names and vintages of the wines entered into the tasting correspond with those on the wine bottles from which the wines were poured into glasses for judging;
4. we checked that the label information was correctly captured for reporting purposes and that the bottles were numbered correctly;
5. we ensured that the wines from the numbered bottles were poured into glasses of the correct panel for tasting;
6. we observed the tasters’ discussions and made sure no undue influence was placed on the judges to change their score for any of the wines;
7. we verified more than half of the results of the trophy winners and confirmed that the entries with the highest scores in their respective classes received the relevant trophy;
8. we agreed the tasting sheets to score sheets where judges changed their scores after a second tasting in the event of wines being re-tasted;
9. we ensured that any incorrect entries (wines entered into wrong classes by producers) were removed and corrected for resubmission;
10. we ensured that only an estimated one third of entries were awarded a medal;
11. we tested the temperature in the storage area and checked the temperature of random samples of wines entered to make sure that temperatures complied with international standards: Red wines are served at between 15°C and 18°C and white wines, rosé and dessert wines at between 10°C and 12°C. Sparkling wines are served at between 8°C and 10°C.
12. we randomly selected 157 wine samples and agreed them to score sheets, entry forms, WSR2A & WSR4A forms, casted sample score sheets and checked sample score sheets for signatures, dates & panel numbers.

Looking back

LOOKING BACK A BIT...

The first Michelangelo International Wine and Spirits Awards was held in 1997 in Johannesburg, attracting all of 146 entries. Little did we realise that this would become South Africa’s most influential wine competition with entries exceeded 1800 two decades later!

The first Michelangelo took place in October 1997 in Johannesburg after six months of planning. The then vice president of the OIV in Brussels, Baudouin Havaux, flew to South Africa from Belgium to assist with setting up the first competition.

In the first year only one double gold medal was awarded, namely to André van Rensburg for the Stellenzicht 1994 Shiraz.

In the following year three double gold medals were awarded to KWV, Vergelegen and Spier. In 2000 the first Michelangelo Trophy was awarded to Danie Steytler of Kaapzicht in 2000 for his 1999 Steytler Pinotage.

By 2003, with entries increasing steadily at 10% per annum, the 1000 mark was breached. This corresponded with the Michelangelo moving to the Cape in that year. In 2009 entries surpassed the 1500 mark and this year Michelangelo broke the 1800 barrier.

... AND TO THE FUTURE...

The competition has built its reputation on a number of aspects, making it unique in South Africa in many ways:

- All wines are judged blind (unseen), using the 100 point international judging system
- Every aspect of the competition is audited
- Michelangelo is open not

Since the start of the Michelangelo, more than 172 different judges from 45 countries have served on the panels.

only to wine and brandy entries, but offers the only platform I south Africa for the adjudication of spirits, including liqueurs and products such as rum, gin and vodka.

ADDING MARKETING VALUE

It remains the aim of Michelangelo to add value to the medals which our winners receive, and to this end we have signed a three-way agreement with Tamasa Wine Trading and Media Nova Publishing to host prestigious wine shows at selected international venues.

At these glittering events only the crème de la crème of the Michelangelo winners will be on show, namely the trophy, platinum and Grand’Or medal winners.

In addition we have entered into an agreement with Fiera Milano, owners and organisers of The Good Food & Wine Show to host a Michelangelo Pavilion at every show, where our winners will have the opportunity to offer their wines and spirits for tasting and for sale to the public.

INCREASED FOREIGN ENTRIES

2016 saw a drastic increase in the number of entries received from foreign producers, and more than 120 wines and spirits were entered from Australia, Italy, France, the Czech Republic, Lebanon, Chile, Moravia, China, Croatia, Slovakia and Slovenia.

For the first time this year Michelangelo received a number of Champagne entries from France, as well as Prosecco entries from Italy. In total, sparkling wine entries showed an increase of almost 30% with a total of 91 entries.

We, the organisers and sponsors look forward to the future, and would like to wish our winners success and huge sales of those medal-winning wines!

Our judges

The strength and uniqueness of Michelangelo lies in the quality of its international judging panels: our wine and spirits judges are all wine industry professionals, hand-picked from other international wine competitions around the globe. We invite only judges who are certified, have substantial international judging experience and are acknowledged in their countries for their experience and expertise.

As a result our judging panels are completely impartial in their judging of the wines put before them in the blind tasting, and the Michelangelo results completely unbiased audited, and objective. Since the start of the competition in 1997, 172 different judges from 45 countries have served on the panels.

Sergio Correa Undurraga
Chile
Sergio was a judge on the inaugural Michelangelo panel in 1997. With a lifetime of experience in the many facets of oenology, Sergio has been awarded many times – among them The Knight’s Cross of Merit awarded by the French government and the Viticultural Merit Award for Best Chilean Winemaker.

Petronella Salvi
France
Also part of the 1997 panel was Nellie Salvi, who owns and runs Vino Fino, a wine events company specializing in the great vineyards of France, Spain, Italy and South Africa. She is a regular jury member of wine competitions in Europe and America, an active member of the British Circle of Winewriters and the International Federation of Wine and Spirits Writers and Journalists.

Ronny Lau Hong Kong
China
Ronny Lau is chairman of the Hong Kong Wine & Spirits Writers Association, and also chairs the Shanghai International Wine Challenge. He writes on wine and spirits for publications in Hong Kong, mainland China and Malaysia and has authored six books on wine. In 2012 he released the first ever Tuscan wine in Italy, made by a Chinese winemaker.

Andrej Ondrejmiska
Slovakia
Andrej works as wine maker, oenologist, viticulturist and wine marketer in his family’s wine business, Vino Ondrejmiska. He judges in several international competitions in Europe, including Mundus Vini, Concou(rs) Mondial de Bruxelles, and Grand Prix Vinex.

Michael Bampfield-Duggan
South Africa
Mike is a founding member and owner of Wine Concepts cc in Newlands, Cape Town. With more than 35 years’ experience in the liquor and catering trade, Mike is recognized as one of the top wine list consultants in South Africa and was recently inducted into the prestigious L’Ordre Des Coteaux De Champagne of France.
Maria Katsouli
Greece
Maria Katsouli lives and works in Athens as sommelier, journalist and wine educator, as well as being a certified olive oil taster. She regularly judges in international wine and extracts competitions both in Greece and abroad, and introduced the profession of Sommelier in Greece.

Kristina Wolf
Germany
Kristina is a well-respected spirits expert in Europe. She owns and runs a spirits shop in Berlin where she trades in over 700 different spirits including Rum, Whisky, Cognac, Armagnac, Gin, Cachaça and Pisco.

Thomas Rydberg
Denmark
Thomas is a writer and editor for several Danish wine and spirits publications. He is a regular judge in international wine competitions, and is part of the jury of the Concours Grenache de Monde and judges in the Best Riesling Competition in Neustadt. He is currently working to complete his Master of Wine dissertation.

Dr Andy Roediger
South Africa
Andy is a Cape Wine Master and a winemaker in Stellenbosch. His Cape Wine Master thesis topic on Phenolic ripeness has made him a leading expert in this field and puts him in high demand during the harvest season, when he carries out phenolic ripeness analyses for wine producers in the Cape.

Adrian Garforth
UK
Adrian is a Master of Wine, who worked as the European MD for the Spier wine group in Stellenbosch until 2003. He currently consults on over 1000 UK restaurant wine lists and works as advisor for several European importers and wineries. He holds a WSET Diploma and is a regular judge at the IWC and Decanter Wine shows in the UK.

Tinashe Nyamudoka
South Africa
New to the Michelangelo panel this year is Tinashe Nyamudoka, Head Sommelier at The Test Kitchen in Cape Town. Tinashe hails from Zimbabwe and sits on the panel of the Wine of the Month club as well as on the Wells Faber Weekly sommelier blind tasting.

Eduardo Viotti
Brazil
Hailing from Brazil, Eduardo has judged on the panels of all major wine competitions worldwide during the past 15 years and has been the editor of VINHO MAGAZINE since 1999. He has written 16 books for the collection “The World of Wine” and is also the author of several annual Brazilian Wine Guides.

Cho Jung Yong
South Korea
Cho works as author and wine journalist in Seoul where he also lectures on wine at the University of Korea. His company, The Curious Wine Company in Korea, imports and distributes wine throughout Asia. Cho has written a number of books on wine and regularly judges at international wine competitions including Mundusvini, the Singapore Wine Challenge and Vinitaly.
Carrie Adams
South Africa
Johannesburg-based Carrie has worked in the wine industry in the UK and South Africa since 1987. She is a director of Norman Goodfellows Fine Wines and a Classic FM radio host. In addition, Carrie is a member of the Commanderie de Bordeaux, The Ordre Des Coteaux de Champagne and the first female Keeper of the Quaich in Africa for William Grant & Sons.

Dave Hughes
South Africa
Founder of the Cape Wine Academy and the Cape Wine and Spirit Education Trust, Dave is an honorary Cape Wine Master and a brandy distiller. He has written a number of books on wine and spirits and is a regular judge on many competition panels, locally and abroad, as well as a consultant to the SAA, the Nederburg Annual Wine Auction and the IWSC in London.

Roberto Lepori
Italy
Roberto lives in Rome, and holds a degree in Law. He graduated as Master Wine Sommelier from the Italian Sommelier Association of Rome, is a rum and grappa expert and regularly conducts seminars on Italian wine in collaboration with the Consortium of Prosecco DOC Treviso, in Italy, Belgrade and Porto Montenegro.

Colin Frith
South Africa
Colin is one of three of South Africa’s Honorary Cape Wine Masters and started his career as a wine merchant in the United Kingdom. Returning to South Africa after 18 years, Colin worked as wine buyer with SFW for many years. Today he runs a wine production company in the Western Cape and regularly judges for the IWSC and Veritas.

The Michelangelo Credo

We honour the genius of the medieval Italian sculptor, painter, architect, poet, and engineer of the High Renaissance, Michelangelo di Lodovico Buonarroti Simoni, who famously painted the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel in Rome and sculpted the Pietà and the famous David statue.

As Michelangelo Buonarroti strived for perfection in every area, our entrants strive to create the perfect wine or spirits and be awarded with a prestigious medal or trophy.
Dr. Marin Berovic
Slovenia
As OIV Commissioner and Chairman of European Wine Competitions, Marin adjudicates and oversees judging panels at wine competitions around the world. He holds the position of Professor in chemical and biochemical engineering at the University of Llubjana.

Dr. Luboš Bárt a
Czech Republik
Lubos is a recognized international wine judge, wine-writer and wine-critic, and lectures at the Prague Culinary Institute. He is Editor-in-chief of the Czech SOMMELIER Magazine and frequently judges at wine competitions including Fingerlakes in the USA and Concourse Mondial de Bruxelles in Belgium. He holds one of only five titles as “Benchmark Taster” for Vinopres in Belgium.

Germain Lehodey
France
Germain grew up in Normandy, where his father was a Calvados producer. He started his career as sommelier at the world renowned Tour d’Argent restaurant in Paris. An internationally accredited Sommelier, Germain was appointed head sommelier at the Orient Hotel Restaurant Mosaic near Johannesburg. In 2007 he was named a finalist in the Best Sommelier of the World competition.

Elizabeth Palmer
Canada
Liz is a Champagne and Sparkling wine expert and judges these products around the world. Her book, entitled “An Ultimate Guide To Champagne “, has recently been published, while two other Champagne-related books are also in the pipeline, namely “The Most Powerful Women in Champagne” and “The Champagne Cookbook”.

Cristina is an agricultural engineer, wine consultant and vice president of the Oenology Commission of Argentina. She has been a juror in most major international wine competitions for the past 30 years and as wine consultant regularly writes and presents technical papers on various topics in the wine industry.
Judging week 15-20 August
Technical director’s report

Since this is a competition where 90% of judges are internationally sourced - each one recruited months before the event with great care, based on their tasting experience and expertise - it was decided to let everyone’s rating count during the judging without forcing panel consensus.

The judges are chosen to represent diverse countries and regions and to represent various fields like journalists, sommeliers, wine-makers and academics. They were all brought to South Africa at considerable expense and with various logistical challenges – the least of those being co-ordinating flights from around the globe!

The critical role of panel presidents
The five-person panels comprised four international tasters and one local (South African) judge. Much thought went into ensuring there were no personality clashes on the panels and that panel presidents were fair but firm, and organised. It was their job to feed the class results through to the auditor on an on-going basis, and where any panellist differed significantly from his/her colleagues, their opinion was heard. It was not their role to select the trophies, but simply feed through scores. In all cases trophies went to the highest scoring wines in their class, based on the final results.

The question of palate fatigue
In order to eliminate any bias, each panel tasted an entire class of wines or spirits, and where the classes were big, they were split over three or four days. Between 70 – 75 wines per day were allocated daily to each panel over the tasting period of six days. Each panel was also given a variety of both white and red wines to taste each day in order to reduce palate fatigue.

Blind tasting
International entries were not identified, appearing blind alongside the South African products. Scores were based on the OIV 100-point system and the results per class therefore a direct reflection of the panels’ ratings of the entries.

Shiraz, Shiraz-based blends, Natural Sweet, Botrytis and Fortified wines, Pinotage, and Chenin Blanc received particularly good scores, resulting in a high proportion of Gold, Grand’Or and Platinum medals.

This is noteworthy when you keep in mind the range of different fields and countries from which the judges originated. They were briefed to evaluate the wines according to international quality standards, making no concession for local consumer preferences. Particular levels of expertise were accommodated where possible, meaning the panellists had wide experience in the wine classes they were judging.

There was special mention in the panels’ daily reports of the overall quality of single red varieties where terroir expression was a significant factor, barrel-fermented and older Sauvignon Blanc, and Bordeaux-style reds which generally showed complexity. But the star of the show was Chenin, where the unwooded wines had ripeness and flavour, and the wooded and older wines were particularly impressive.

On wooded whites, judges commented on Chardonnay’s good oak management and balance, but singled out the Sauvignon Blanc/Semillon blends, which they said were of an international standard.

A number of panellists had tasted for Michelangelo before, and remarked that they found a significant overall improvement in quality, as well as a much wider range of styles within the categories – even within a relatively short period like five or six years. There was more elegance in many of the wines, both white and red.

Negatives included too much oak in some wines, and a sacrifice of complexity where one variety dominated in a white or red blend.

It was also suggested that a few wines were entered too early, eg some 2014 reds, which might have done better if they were a year or two older.
After six days of judging the 1829 entries, 670 awards were announced:

- 15 trophies
- 18 platinum medals
- 113 Grand’Or medals
- 271 gold medals
- 253 silver medals

Our awards evening
It remains the aim of Michelangelo to add value to the medals which our winners receive, and to this end we have signed a three-way agreement with Tamasa Wine Trading and Media Nova Publishing to host prestigious wine shows at selected international venues during 2017 and beyond.

At these glittering events only the crème de la crème of the Michelangelo winners will be on show, namely the trophy, platinum and Grand’Or medal winners.

Tamasa Trading exports premium quality South African wines to all corners of the globe.
We are a small boutique winery situated in the heart of the beautiful Breedeekloof valley. Surrounded with the majestic Du Toitskloof mountains and rich soils that makes this the perfect wine area. The company is owned by Pieter Stofberg, Mariette Coetzee (née Stofberg) and Deon Coetzee. Our biggest supporter PJD Stofberg (Piet Tof) loving father and grandfather sadly passed away just after our maiden vintage (2012) and his first great grandchild Mia never had the privilege of meeting him. We decided to name the first wine range Mia, after our first born, to symbolize new and small beginnings that will grow year by year. We aim to make outstanding quality wines that are well balanced, elegant and affordable.

The art and science of cooperage

manipulating wood for the creation of superior wines

The difference lies in convection toasting

In 2004 convection toasting technology was introduced, producing a softer and slower toasting than traditional toasting of the interior directly over an open flame.

And so… the Coffee Pinotage trophy is born

The temperature at which a barrel is toasted impacts on the flavours it releases in the wine and this was the science behind the creation of the Coffee Pinotage trophy: flavours from French oak toasted near 190°C produce intensified scents of coffee, cocoa, cinnamon, chocolate, vanilla and cloves!

Toneleria Nacional is the proud sponsors of the Michelangelo Coffee Pinotage Trophy since 2013.

Nature’s magical oak varieties and the skills of the Toneleria Nacional coopers combine to bring you, the winemaker, the best of art and science: barrels which invoke magical flavours into award winning wines…

We realise the changing requirements of modern oenology and strive to continuously develop new production processes which help create wines full of personality.

We use mainly French Oak (all French oak is certified under the PEFC), American White Oak and a mix of Eastern European oaks from Hungary, Romania, Russia, Slovenia and Ukraine.

South Africa’s leading culinary event and South Africa’s biggest wine and spirits competition have signed an agreement to bring lovers of the good life an even better gastronomic experience.

It seems only logical that these two leading brands of industry should collaborate to showcase the very best of South African and international food, wine and spirits.

Early in 2016 Fiera Milano Exhibitions Africa (owners of the Good Food & Wine Show) and Lorraine Immelman (founder and CEO of Michelangelo International Wine & Spirits Awards) got together to showcase some award winning wines at the Cape Town and Johannesburg Good Food & Wine Shows. These first cautious steps have now led to a new and exciting agreement for 2017.

This means that Michelangelo will again join forces with Fiera Milano for all three Good Food & Wine Shows (Cape Town, Johannesburg and Durban) in 2017, while Fiera Milano will be involved with the official 2017 Michelangelo International Wine & Spirits Awards ceremony as a partner.

The agreement will offer Michelangelo’s medal and trophy winning wines a platform to interact with over 60 000 visitors to the three shows and educate them on the merit and the value of a Michelangelo award. On the other hand the agreement will offer the GF&WS the opportunity to expand the wine offering at the shows, providing visitors with an exciting wine experience by tasting, learning and purchasing some of the best wines in the country and abroad under one roof.

We invite all the producers and marketers of Michelangelo award winning wines and spirits to join us in promoting and showcasing your products to consumers across South Africa.

See you in 2017!

Daniel Bloch, Sales & Operations Manager, Fiera Milano Exhibitions Africa

Winner of the 2016
IQ Business Trophy for the Most Innovative Wine/Spirits

Larry Berger’s Premium Triple Distilled Spirit of Rooibos aperitif has managed to capture all the woody undertones and unique aromas of South African Rooibos in a smooth, full bodied drink.

“ My passion for premium spirit and my curiosity about the unique properties of South Africa’s Fynbos - and the Rooibos plant in particular - led me to begin a journey of distillation via this magical shrub. I invite you to share this innovative product with your friends and join the journey – this is Rooibos as you have never tasted it. Drink it well chilled, no ice, no water… enjoy!”

Larry Berger

The bio-diverse Cederberg region is home to a vast number of indigenous fynbos species and it is only here that it grows in its natural state. Even though it is endemic to the Western Cape the unique aroma of Rooibos is universally recognized and its health benefits and remarkably high anti-oxidant levels globally acknowledged.

Harvesting
The Rooibos crop is harvested by hand once a year during summer when the bushy-plant’s branches are cut using sickles, and bound into bundles

Cutting and processing
Upon arrival at the farm processing facility, the bundles are sorted and cut to a uniform length (from 1 mm to 5 mm) to ensure a neat and consistent appearance of the final product. The wet, freshly cut (and bruised) Rooibos is then placed in a long low heap across a tea court to “sweat”… a carefully managed process of enzymatic oxidation which takes place during fermentation and causes the Rooibos to change from green to the characteristic red/amber color and develop its distinctive aroma.

Drying and storage
After the sweating process, the fermented Rooibos is spread out across a tea court to dry naturally in the hot African sun. The entire process is completed in less than 24 hours, and the new Rooibos is picked/sucked up and fed into 40kg sacks which are then graded, labeled and transported.

Johannesburg
Fiera Milano Exhibitions Africa (FMEA) is a leading trade fair and event organiser in South Africa. It has in its portfolio the fast-growing Cape Town Art Fair as well as the Good Food & Wine Show – the biggest food and beverage fair in Africa. Managing Director, Maria Chieppa says: “Trade fairs are important instruments for the development of small to medium-sized enterprises. They help them to access their respective markets. With the Good Food & Wine Show, for example, FMEA provides companies in the food and wine sector with South Africa’s largest marketing and communications platform, and helps them to confront their market, meet its demands and understand its needs.”

Each year, the Good Food & Wine Show takes place in three leading South African cities - Cape Town, Johannesburg and Durban. The event showcases novel innovations, the latest trends, new product and up-to-the-minute developments in food and beverages, lifestyle gadgets and appliances. In 2016, FMEA’s investment has been directed at transforming the show’s format and its content profile in collaboration with industry associations for a renewed emphasis on food and wine, customer/exhibitor interaction, entertainment and education. Extended exhibition hours and networking dinners are also part of the new-look show. As always, a key focus is the lifestyle benefit to local ‘home’ chefs of the latest world class food and wine products that it showcases. In 2016 and 2017 the Good Food & Wine Show’s dates are: Durban, 28–30 October 2016; Cape Town, 2–4 June 2017; Johannesburg, 28–30 July 2017; and Durban, 27–29 October 2017.

The fifth edition of the Cape Town Art Fair will be held at the Cape Town International Convention Centre (CTICC) from 17–19 February 2017. The CTICC can accommodate the event’s rapidly expanding gallery presence and visitor numbers and has an international profile. As the leading international art fair on the African continent, it represents the very best contemporary art galleries from South Africa, Africa, and around the world.

Trade shows and exhibitions are also powerful marketing tools for host cities and countries. FMEA will ultimately strengthen and support economic growth in South Africa – not only in the promotion of Cape Town, but by attracting to the region international FMEA clients, industry associations, chambers of commerce and business partners. Fiera Milano Exhibitions Africa belongs to Fiera Milano S.p.A., one of the largest trade fair players in the world. Fiera Milano S.p.A. is the only Italian trade fair company listed on the Italian stock exchange.

Fiera Milano Exhibitions Africa (FMEA) is the South African branch of Fiera Milano S.p.A., the leading exhibition and congress group in Italy and one of the top conference and exhibition organisers in the world. In South Africa, FMEA combines almost 100 years of international experience with in-depth local expertise to successfully manage its rapidly expanding portfolio of high quality fairs, including the Good Food & Wine Show and the Cape Town Art Fair. In doing so, FMEA also provides a marketing and communications platform for the exchange of knowledge – and the stimulation of economic development – that helps businesses, cities and regions to grow.
